Instant Alert User Guide

When schedules change, buses run late, or emergencies occur, you need to be informed about your child's whereabouts and safety is paramount. Instant Alert enables schools to inform you about your students by bringing news to you directly. You can decide how and where to receive these messages.

This book is intended for parents and staff members who want to configure and set up an Instant Alert account. You will also learn about configuring devices on which to receive alerts and adding contacts who will have pickup rights for your child.

It includes the following sections:

- About the Instant Alert User
- Accessing Instant Alert If You Are a Staff Member
- Accessing Instant Alert If You Are a Parent
- Parent Related Functions
- Staff Related Functions

About the Instant Alert User

There are primarily three categories of users using Instant Alert.

1. Parents of children studying in schools/districts subscribed to Instant Alert
2. Staff members working in schools/districts subscribed to Instant Alert
3. Staff members whose children study in schools/districts subscribed to Instant Alert

For all practical purposes, categories one and three are considered one and the same

You must authenticate to the Instant Alert application as a parent before you can perform parent related functions.

You must authenticate to the Instant Alert application as a staff before you can perform staff related functions.
